Hi A.J,

We received comments from the Seneca Nation regarding the proposed Roulette injection well. This isn't the way we thought this was going to work (we thought we would give them a presentation and have a back and forth conversation with them). Nevertheless, they submitted comments that I'm starting to respond to this week. I've attached their comments. They are pretty lengthy and technical so it may take some time for me to answer them. Brian Hamilton, the R3 tribal coordinator, told me it would probably be better to respond to the Seneca Nation's comments separately from the general public's comments. In regards to the general public, I have had around 60 people reach out about this permit of which about 28 people actually submitted their comments. I'll definitely need to start working with you in all these responses but I can take the first attempt at answering them and then run everything by you. Sorry, I should have kept you more up-to-date with what's going on but it's been kind of a whirlwind. I'm just taking it one day at a time 😊

Kevin:

Just wanted to check in to see how the whole Tribal Consultation process is playing out in Roulette Oil & Gas . . and whether the extended general comment period has resulted in numerous additional comments that are above and beyond the typical norm.

Sincerely,
